The image shows a crossword puzzle grid. The top-left corner features a photograph of a white square dish filled with bright orange caviar, resting on a bamboo placemat. The grid is composed of white squares for letters and black squares for empty space. Black arrows are placed in the grid to indicate the starting points and directions for the words. The arrows point in four directions: horizontally (left and right), vertically (up and down), and diagonally (up-right and down-left).
