The crossword puzzle grid is 15 columns wide and 15 rows high. It features two starting points for words:

- Starting Point 1: Located at the top left, it includes a photograph of a man with long hair and sunglasses, and a square containing the number '1'. This starting point leads to a horizontal word starting at row 1, column 5.
- Starting Point 2: Located at the bottom right, it includes a photograph of a man in a suit and sunglasses, and a square containing the number '2'. This starting point leads to a horizontal word starting at row 12, column 12.

The grid contains various letters and arrows indicating the direction of the words. The letters are scattered throughout the grid, often appearing in pairs or small groups, suggesting a word search or a puzzle where the words are to be identified from the letters provided.
