

A crossword puzzle grid is presented on a white background. The grid consists of black and white squares. Two images are integrated into the grid: a young woman with a flower crown and a daisy flower in the top-left, and a soldier in full combat gear in the bottom-right. Each image is accompanied by a small black circle containing a white number (1 or 2) indicating the starting point of a word. Arrows in the grid squares show the direction of the words to be filled in.
